CAB-Accused For Laxity in Airline Rules

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—House investigators have accused the civil aviation board of laxity in regulating the nation's airline riders, charging the board with negligence in its sweeping investigation of commercial aviation and government regulation of airlines.

The House group questioned the CAB's use of "too much informality" in dealing with airline officials and its failure to "even the appearance of unwarranted conduct."

The subcommittee recommended that the justice department's anti-trust division investigate thoroughly the commercial airlines trade association—the Air Transport Association of America—to determine whether any of its activities are "unlawful."

The subcommittee said the investigation should also include the ATA's activities in connection with the "first-class fares on coach flights."

The failure of the board, the subcommittee said, "has resulted in the traveling public being victimized by a subterfuge and indirectly permits an increase in coach fares."

Among the airlines that make up ATA include American, Eastern, United, Trans World, Capital, Delta, Allegheny, National, Pan American, Trans Canada, and Southern.

The subcommittee Democrats and Rep. W. Rodino,

N. J., Byron G. Rogers, Colo., and Lester Holtzman, N. Y., said that the ATA's activities for its members

"appear to be efforts to remain trade for the benefit of the certified carriers or for the purpose of obtaining a new competitor or group of competitors."

Soviet Ships Are Watched In North Sea

LONDON, Sept. 3 (AP)—NATO naval forces today were reported making a close watch on a squadron of Soviet warships moving down the coast of Europe toward the Atlantic.

The Soviet warships—the heavy cruiser Chibrikov and four destroyers—were reported to have been sighted off the coast of Denmark, sailed by a Danish naval patrol.

One of the series of Soviet naval movements which has been watched by NATO naval forces since the outbreak of the Russo-German war, possibly to attempt to balance the fleet in the North Atlantic in the waters west of the English Channel.

Radio Moscow and the official Tass news agency said the Soviet warships were heading for Yugoslavia on a courtesy call.

A squadron of five warships of the Red Banner Baltic fleet, including the cruiser Zhdanov, sailed yesterday on a friendly visit to Yugoslavia, Tass news agency reported Saturday.

Keep Watch

Naval sources here said British or Norwegian units of the NATO North Sea command would keep shadowing Soviet warships. Other NATO units will keep close watch on the Soviet fleet as it moves toward Gibraltar and into the Mediterranean, the source said.

At least five more Soviet warships, including two heavy cruisers, are in the Mediterranean, heading toward Albania. The Soviets are believed to have a major naval base at Albania's Saiano island.

Western naval observers said they were waiting to see whether the Soviet warships remained in the Mediterranean, or whether they would return to the Baltic during the extensive NATO naval maneuvers scheduled last month.

It was recalled the Soviet cruiser Kibrikov was spotted near the war games area during NATO summer maneuvers.

Housing Bill Disapproved By President

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—The White House today announced that President Eisenhower had disapproved by pocket veto a bill to provide low-interest government housing for veterans in rural and smaller cities.

The bill was intended to aid veterans in areas where conventional mortgage money was in scarce supply.

"I cannot approve a program that has such a potential inflationary effect upon the economy or that is so discriminatory," the President said in a memorandum signed yesterday. "There is no justifiable reason for making loans at interest rates below the current market rates available to some veterans and denying them to others."

Passage of Civil Rights Bill Is Major Congressional Act

By JAMES MARLOW
A P News Analyst

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—The most significant thing about the passage of the civil rights bill today was that it was the first time since the Reconstruction era that Republicans finally stopped playing politics with Negroes and passed a civil rights bill.

Until now promises by the party on civil rights were political bunk. What they did this year they could have done any time in those 82 years by learning up to crush the opposition of Southern Democrats.

Here's an example of how they did the opposite:

In 1945, last time the Democrats made a stab at a civil rights bill, they could have kept the Senate in continuous session to try to smash the Southern filibuster which finally killed the bill. But they didn't.

And Republicans, playing politics with the Southern Negro, helped them put through a Senate rule change which made breaking a filibuster harder than it had ever been before.

Reasons for this year's action included the political reality of the importance of the Northern Negro vote and, no doubt, psychological impacts which reflected changing times.

Democrats had had the Negro vote in their pocket since the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt. But Northern Negroes, wanting better treatment for themselves and Southern Negroes, began shifting toward the Republicans.

Their vote in the 1948 congressional elections may be a major factor in deciding which party will control Congress. Both parties knew that. This year the Republicans pushed for civil rights legislation all-out.

In the almost evenly divided Senate, the bill overcame a filibuster by a vote of 77 to 23.

'Galileo' Test Shot Is Fired By Scientists

ATOMIC TEST SITE, NEV. Sept. 3.—Scientists today fired a "Galileo" test shot, the first of a series of tests planned for the 1957 atomic test series at the Nevada proving grounds.

The shot, dubbed "Galileo," was fired at 8:40 a.m. PDT from atop a 300-foot steel tower. It was the third atomic test within four days.

A "Galileo" test shot, changing in color from bright red to orange, seemed to streak the steel tower. The force of the nuclear explosion was equal to 10,000 tons of TNT, about one-half the size of the atomic bomb which was dropped on Japan during World War II.

Animals Used

Animals ranging from guinea pigs to kangaroos were housed in shelters within three miles of ground zero. Scientists said the animals were used to test the effects of atomic radiation on "human guinea-pigs" to test the AEC's theory that "biological environments" are important.

The animals were placed in shelters designed to protect people from the nuclear explosion. The shelters were made of concrete and steel, and were designed to withstand the blast of a nuclear explosion.

Troops Participate

A research group participated in an experiment following the detonation. About 100 soldiers and their equipment traveled through an obstacle course about 4,000 yards long, about 100 yards wide, and about 100 yards high. The course was designed to test the effects of atomic radiation on troops.

Red Skyscraper in New York Will Be Erected by Promoter

By HAL BOVIE
NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—A skyscraper "has had at one time or another, a wreck-end ambition to paint the town red."

Nobody but Louis Glickman, however, has seriously set out to erect a vermillion colored skyscraper in the heart of Manhattan.

His proposal to tear down historic Carnegie hall, built for five million dollars and replace it with a 24 million dollar office building, has caught the public fancy.

"People want to know who Glickman is, and why he wants to put up a tower that will look like an over-stuffed Bloody Mary."

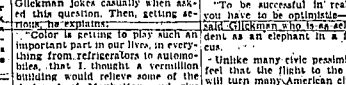

"Oh, I just happen to be wearing a red tie the day I closed the deal," Glickman jokes casually when asked this question. Then, getting serious, he explains:

"Color is coming to play such an important part in our lives, in everything from refrigerators to automobiles, that I thought a vermillion building would relieve some of the drabness of Manhattan—and give the town a shot in the arm."

The venture is typical of Glickman, whose formula for success is "imagination mixed with prudent daring."

Glickman, one of the nation's leading real estate syndicate operators, wasn't born with a silver spoon in his mouth—it was a property deed. Shortly after graduating from college he became a partner of his father, Pinus Glickman, a famous builder.

He automatically made his fortune in the real estate business.

"To look at a skyscraper and envision a booming factory on it, to see a row of battered brownstone homes on an overlooked avenue corner, and foresee a profitable office building there—these require both imagination and daring."

"To be successful in real estate you have to be optimistic—a bull," said Glickman to a reporter.

"Unlike many civic problems who feel that the slums in the suburbs will turn many American cities into slums."

business cemeteries, Glickman feels downtown urban areas are making a strong comeback in cities which have undertaken modernization programs.

"The trouble is we are just beginning now to do the kind of planned building we should have begun 50 years ago," he remarked. "But the flight of business to the suburbs is over."

"Business men have found that they can't get and hold the kind of help they want in the suburbs. They can find it only in the city."

Some critics believe that Manhattan has overbuilt in the post-war construction program of new office and apartment buildings approaching the billion dollar mark.

"The answer is that they are still finding plenty of tenants," said Glickman. "There is no reason for the post-war boom in construction in the Park-Fifth avenue area."

"Manhattan and other cities will grow larger, not smaller. There are plenty of people in the suburbs who want to come back to the cities. Buildings can be put up for them."

"The best investment on earth is still earth."

Okay Seen on Admission for Red Newsmen

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland, Calif., said Sunday he had "no particular objection" to admitting red Chinese newsmen to the United States as long as they were not issued visas.

Knowland suggested that a "temporary news certificate" be worked out to permit Chinese newsmen to enter this country, giving them visas, he said, would entail some form of U. S. recognition of communist China.

Knowland reversed the state department recently reversed its former position and decided to allow American newsmen to go to red China if that nation would admit them. There has been no official reaction from the communist Chinese government, but a government newspaper said that if American newsmen were allowed to enter red China, red Chinese reporters should be granted admission to the United States.

Knowland, in an interview with Rep. Kenneth B. Cessing, R.-N. Y., also said he did not "fully agree" with President Eisenhower's appraisal of the past session of the 80th congress.

Eisenhower told a recent news conference he was "tremendously disappointed" with the record of congress.

But Knowland said the only "real test" of the record of any congress is not the volume of legislation it passes, but the quality. He said he thought the "batting average" for the first session was fair.

Knowland cited the passage of Eisenhower's Middle East doctrine, the civil rights bill and the fight for economy in government as the "most significant" accomplishment of the past session.

He said recent developments in Syria "might have been even far more serious" had it not been for the doctrine to help Middle East nations resist communist aggression.

Asked for his reaction to the state department's recent announcement that 24 American newsmen be permitted to go to red China on an experimental basis, Knowland said he was a "newspaper man" and was a "little prejudiced."

No Speed

LONDON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Sudan's Prime Minister Ismail al-Ahmed Khalil, arriving here Sunday to place orders for planes, said jets are too fast for his air force.

"I don't like these fast things," he said. "I want propeller planes, not these jets."

The fair wound up with an afternoon calf scramble and fast stock sale.

Toll Calls

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Employees of the U. S. department of commerce have been told to use pay phones to call their wives, aunts and boy friends.

Newly added telephone bill in hand, the department figures personal calls made on office phones are costing taxpayers $35,000 a year.

What Happened to the Horsehoe?

It entered the realm of the old-fashioned, along with the buggy whip, when automobiles appeared on the scene. As people became persuaded that the car offered a swifter, more economical means of transportation than the horse, they took up the new way, abandoned the old.

It's an American trait to embrace ways of doing things that save time and money. That's why millions of Americans use the checking service provided by America's banks.

Rivers in China Threaten Floods

TOKYO, Sept. 3 (AP)—An army of more than 70,000 civilians and soldiers are working round the clock to guard the banks of the swollen Huang and Yangtze rivers which threaten the key Manchurian city of Harbin, the New China news agency reported yesterday.
